

CRISIS IN THE CLASSROOM

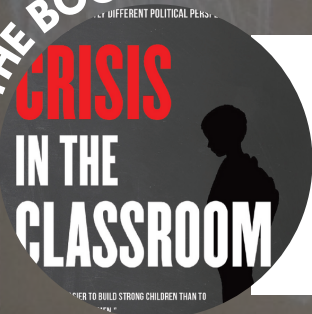

by Dr. Ben Carson, Benjamin Crump & Armstrong Williams

THE AUTHORS

Three thought leaders with vastly different political worldviews address the Crisis in the Classroom because one thing they agree on is America is failing its inner-city school children. Famed neurosurgeon and former Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Dr. Ben Carson, Civil rights attorney Ben Crump, and serial entrepreneur and media personality Armstrong Williams offer insightful solutions to the Crisis in the Classroom.

THE BOOK

Education is the foundation of every nation's success or failure; it produces upstanding citizens, lifts people out of poverty, and catalyzes change. Crisis in the classroom is full of captivating, insightful essays that expose the harsh realities of the current state of education in the United States and its repercussions on underserved and marginalized communities.

ORDERING INFO

Title: CRISIS IN THE CLASSROOM

Page count: 168

Genre: Non-fiction

Publisher: Skyhorse Publishing

Publication date: November 15, 2022

- ISBN:ISBN-10: 1510776885
- ISBN-13: 978-1510776883

Price: Ebook ($17.99) Hardcover ($26.99)

Where To Buy:

- Amazon: <https://amzn.to/3S6UoIH>
- Wherever Books are Sold

For Bulk Orders:
Skyhorsepublishing.com

TESTIMONIALS

"A must-read. This compelling set of essays by three leading, independent, and highly respected voices takes on the range of challenges facing underserved communities. Whatever their difference is, they all agree on the moral imperative to address the Civil Rights issue of our time – the failure of our inner-city schools to provide a quality education to all children. The time has come for fundamental change."

-Former Attorney General Bill Barr

"Education is more than communication of information, it is the transfer of life to the Next Generation. The classroom is the incubator for wisdom, knowledge, understanding, and character. Crisis in the Classroom points directly to the problem. It's "us," all of us. The road to restoring our educational system is difficult, but not impossible, if we work together."

-Reverend A.R. Bernard

FOR INTERVIEWS AND MEDIA INQUIRIES:

Dee Dee Bass Wilbon

703.888.9421

dbasswilbon@basspublicaffairs.com